

Availability of Market Conduct Enforcement Actions¹

Life & Health

Access to market conduct enforcement content is critical in assessing your noncompliance risks or preparing for an examination. The states vary in their approach to offering this information. To date, only 31 offer access to the enforcement actions online, and even fewer, 16, offer it in a way that it can be easily used. The Market Conduct Module for NILS INsource is the only source offering complete and searchable content for available market conduct enforcement activities.

Market Conduct Examination Module

About the NILS INsource Market Conduct Exam Module for Life & Health

An easy-to-use market conduct research tool helping Life and Health insurers prepare and respond to examinations, and maintain compliance with market conduct requirements. It gives insurers a way to assess market conduct compliance requirements that apply to them by state and lines of business. The Market Conduct Exam Module is an optional add on for NILS INsource and is the only source for complete market conduct enforcement information covering all available jurisdictions.
