

Insurance-Focused Regulatory Research NILS INSource™

Going beyond questions and getting to answers. All research begins with questions. How effectively you find your way to the answers can make all the difference.

NILS INSource Benefits:

- Insurance Terminology Indexing—Overcome the challenge of variations that appear in state-specific language, allowing compliance professionals to locate accurate results quickly—delivered through a variety of Search Wizards that provide focused results.
- Insurance-Relevant Content—Eliminate the need for complex source selections when running searches because the database contains only the necessary documents.
- E-Mail Alerts—Automate monitoring of key regulatory issues according to the custom requirements of each user. Eliminate the need to repeat research projects, saving users a significant amount of time.
- Industry Experts—Support provided by substantial professional insurance regulatory resources, including insurance attorneys, former state regulators, and a variety of industry professionals.

Overview

Compliance professionals are overwhelmed with demands to ensure that functional areas receive accurate and timely advice on current and changing legal requirements. The incoming volume of information is so vast that insurers have a great deal of difficulty in selecting only relevant content and communicating it to the areas needing to implement procedural changes. On top of this, a lack of intuitive research tools that all employees are able to adopt for daily use is hampering company initiatives to implement decentralized compliance responsibility. The result is continued reliance on high-cost internal resources, substandard response times for research requests, and missed targets tied to corporate objectives. NILS INSource™ can help.

NILS INSource is a web-based regulatory research tool designed exclusively for insurance compliance professionals. Insurance terminology indexing, line-of-business searching, and compliance-topic and subtopic categories help ensure users get the kind of focused content needed to make research more efficient and compliance more effective.

Value

The foundation of a solid compliance program, NILS INSource goes beyond basic research by providing content unique and critical to the business of insurance. Unlike generalized research tools, NILS INSource focuses exclusively on the needs of insurance compliance professionals. Available in a variety of subscription options, NILS INSource features:

- All regulatory and supplemental material related to insurance regulatory compliance.
- Intuitive Search Wizards guide users to on-target search results so they get the answers needed quickly and easily.
- Our team of compliance experts read and analyze every citation. The result is uniquely indexed content providing greater accuracy and more relevant search results.

NILS INSource is the definitive reference relied on by more than 10,000 insurance professionals and insurance departments in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

- Citation cross-referencing helps ensure users get the “big picture,” and forms the basis for nearly one million hypertext links between statutes, regulations, advance laws, market conduct exam content, and other regulatory publications.
- Easily see newly-added or changed content using the “What’s new since...” feature.
- E-mail alerts keep users informed of important regulatory changes easily.
- Optional NAIC Model Laws module provides quick access to every NAIC Model Law, regulation, and guideline published.
- Research linked with exam activity helps insurers proactively and effectively prepare for and respond to market conduct exams.

With the optional Market Conduct Exam module, insurers have the resources to determine compliance risk exposure quickly, and reduce the costs of state examinations, while keeping critical business resources focused on achieving business objectives. Proactively manage market conduct exam efforts with this unique tool. Our compliance analysts read and cross-reference the full text of every published market conduct exam report with referenced citations. Marked with a compliance alert, users quickly identify citations featured in exam reports and can review areas of concern.

Our experience and depth of expertise are evident in the products we develop, and the support we provide to our subscribers. With a dedicated staff of attorneys, analysts, former regulators, and compliance specialists, our research products are supported by some of the most experienced and skilled compliance experts in the industry.

Our sales staff is far from typical. In fact, they would tell you they are not in sales at all. Former regulators, compliance professionals, attorneys, and business people, they offer a unique and valuable resource to help insurers create and maintain a compliance program in perfect harmony with business objectives.
